Chapter: Chapter 2

Learning Objectives

- LO 2.1.0 Solve problems related to position, displacement, and average velocity to solve problems.
- LO 2.1.1 Identify that if all parts of an object move in the same direction and at the same rate, we can treat the object as if it were a (point-like) particle. (This chapter is about the motion of such objects.)
- LO 2.1.2 Identify that the position of a particle is its location as read on a scaled axis, such as an axis.
- LO 2.1.3 Apply the relationship between a particle's displacement and its initial and final positions.
- LO 2.1.4 Apply the relationship between a particle's average velocity, its displacement, and the time interval for that displacement.
- LO 2.1.5 Apply the relationship between a particle's average speed, the total distance it moves, and the time interval for the motion.
- LO 2.1.6 Given a graph of a particle's position versus time, determine the average velocity between any two particular times.
- LO 2.2.0 Solve problems related to instantaneous velocity and speed
- LO 2.2.1 Given a particle's position as a function of time, calculate the instantaneous velocity for any particular time.
- LO 2.2.2 Given a graph of a particle's position versus time, determine the instantaneous velocity for any particular time.
- LO 2.2.3 Identify speed as the magnitude of the instantaneous velocity.
- LO 2.3.0 Solve problems related to acceleration.
- LO 2.3.1 Apply the relationship between a particle's average acceleration, its change in velocity, and the time interval for that change.
- LO 2.3.2 Given a particle's velocity as a function of time, calculate the instantaneous acceleration for any particular time.
